

KEY VOCABULARY

Village: A village is a group of houses and associated buildings, larger than a hamlet and smaller than a town, situated in a rural area.

Rural: Rural areas are areas which are not towns or cities. They are often farming or agricultural areas. These are sometimes called the "countryside".

Town: A built-up area with a name, boundaries, and local government that is larger than a village and generally smaller than a city.

Towns are significantly larger than villages with many more facilities. They have offices, banks, restaurants, pubs and places of entertainment. They may also have factories and trading estates. Many towns started off as villages which then developed and grew rich using the produce from the nearby countryside.
